

Personalized Learning for Educators: Using Digital Tools to Redefine Instructional Improvement in Your Classroom & Beyond!

Thanks to careful use of our Race to the Top grant, North Carolina is pleased to offer eight special one-day, no-cost personalized learning opportunities for teachers and school administrators this summer.

TARGET AUDIENCE: Classroom teachers and school administrators interested in expanding their knowledge and use of the digital tools and instructional materials in Home Base to improve instruction in the classroom and beyond.

Sign up to participate and receive:

- An opportunity to explore the instructional improvement cycle and how Home Base can help you and your students
- $165 stipend (for participating teachers)
- High quality professional learning led by Schoolnet “power users” who are classroom teachers
- An opportunity for connecting with colleagues to think systematically and critically about student learning in classrooms and schools
- A certificate of attendance
- Dedicated time and space to collaborate with your content-area peers over a catered lunch

Register today! Registration Deadline is June 19, 2015
